

International Truck Showcases HX™ Series and WorkStar® at CONEXPO-CON/AGG

LAS VEGAS, Nev. - March 7, 2017 - International Truck returns to the CONEXPO-CON/AGG 2017 show March 7-11th in Las Vegas, showcasing their line-up of severe service trucks tough enough to tackle the construction industry.

International Truck will feature three International HX Series models with applications specific to the construction industry, including an HX515 mixer, HX615 stone slinger and two HX620 dump trucks, each engineered to outwork and outlast, hour after demanding hour.

"The HX Series raises the bar for premium vocational trucks, and was designed with feedback from leading vocational customers," said Bill Kozek, president, Truck and Parts, Navistar. "Each model has been engineered to endure the most punishing of jobsites, and to look great while doing it."

Offering optimal maneuverability and excellent forward visibility designed with the industry's only dedicated lightweight aluminum cab, available 3.5 million RBM 0.5" huck-bolted single rail frame, and set-forward front axle built to tackle stringent axle weight restrictions, the HX Series more than delivers. Plus, premium features such as an all-metal grille, available dual external chromed air cleaners and halogen headlamps with LED daytime running lights convey strength and professionalism moving its driver to the head of the class.

International will also display a WorkStar® in a crane application. With an exceptional range of power, axle and cab configurations, the versatile WorkStar also integrates Diamond Logic®, offering construction professionals unprecedented body control and electrical diagnostics for safer and smarter truck operation. And, now available with the Cummins® L9, the WorkStar offers the right engine for any configuration and for every job.

International® HX Series and WorkStar trucks will be on display in South Hall 1 of the Las Vegas Convention Center in booth #S61813.
